

For the last many years, I have been appalled by what is allowed on television. For years, we refused to get cable or dish because we thought at least network television had some standards. I am dismayed that now the FCC would consider allowing for even more offensive material. Why are those of us with a sense of morals not as important as those with no morals or those who do not have respect for the human body or human sexuality??!! Please do stand up for common sense. Please do not allow nudity and more profanity on your network stations.
