

PLEASE don't relax the standards for television and our airwaves. So many of the programs right now should be R rated. You don't have to be a rocket scientist to know how much the media affects young people (in, fact, all of us) and they don't have enough experience to know that those awful words and images are outside the norm of a happy, healthful life. Please don't do this. Doris Williams