

Please, please let's preserve the last shred of decency in our country. It is well known that degrading behavior watched evolves for many into degrading behavior acted out. It is well known that pornography is addictive. Must we subject our children to these images and negative language at tender ages? I am so close to getting rid of television in my home and opting for Netflix where I can choose what I bring into my home--not have children or grandchildren stumble on something unsettling when I am in another room in the house. Current standards, if you can call them that, are already too relaxed. Please preserve our country's decency! PLEASE!!!
