Dear Commissioners of the FCC;

I have long been sickened by the provocation of network airways due to the allowed nature of talk and visual that has been occurring. The actions to date by networks is evil and seducing our children into wrong thinking and increasingly immoral behavior. We are shocked when young people act up and cause harm and disrespect for others, but it is clear that radio and television have a lot to do with it. Long the truth of continual viewing and its effects have been dismissed by those who know it to be true, but don't care. Now I learn that this body is considering allowing greater perversion to further degrade the culture and heritage that is the United States.

I strongly urge this body to not only stop consideration of any relaxation, but to enforce the rules that are in place and remove the filth. We cannot as a society afford to go down a historical repetitive path of destruction. To willingly do so in light of the known outcome of great harm it produces is to willingly sacrifice the innocence of children and the greater common good. Or even more pointedly would be to state that this is must be a desired outcome if continued. Please return our airways to a proper sense of decency for all our sakes!

Sincerely,

Ronald Blank
