

Please do not change the decency standards. Children are so impressionable and it is so important that we protect our children from content that is inappropriate. Too many parents let the TV be a babysitter to their children and if you allow indecent content before 10pm you know that innocent and impressionable minds will be exposed. If you have children, grandchildren, nieces, or nephews of your own surely you can understand the extreme importance of maintaining the current standards for the sake of innocent hearts & minds! There is no point in risking exposure!!
