

I was just recently made aware that fcc may change guidelines for television. The changes are letting the F word be said and frontal nudity on women. That is not ok in my book or any other parent out there. We try to instill values in our children and that is not acceptable in my book. I have 2 small children at home who do not need to learn that kind of language or see naked women. I am raising my kids to respect women and others. I do monitor the channels they watch but smut like this should be made for paid channels. Please do not publish this crap. Help our youth.
