

I completely disagree with lowering the standards of what is on primetime tv. It makes no sense at all that we speak of all the things going wrong in the world, and yet no one wants to look at the crap our kids are being desensitized and subjected to on tv. If the standards get worse than they already are, I will 100% cancel any tv service that I have. If people want to see that kind of garbage, they can pay for it on certain channels. It is completely wrong to subject children to more filth and lower standards on tv. I could go on forever, but you get my point. I am totally disgusted and disappointed in tv these days, and the thought of it getting worse is disturbing!
