

I do not agree that primetime television should be allowed to air the "F" word nor do I approve of seeing a woman's bare chest. I have 3 young children, and I try to make sure they are watching good, quality programs for their age. I do not want the off chance that they will be flipping through channels and hear words that are not allowed in my home, or see a naked woman and think it's ok for women to show their bare their private areas to the public.
