

I do not agree with the proposed changes to the TV Decency standards. I believe they should be left as they are. It would be horrible to have your child view the kind of content they are proposing. There are plenty of paid channels that offer the content being considered for TV that you can choose to watch if you prefer. The reason we don't subscribe to paid channels is to avoid the content that is being proposed.