

There is absolutely no good reason to lower present decency laws regarding what may be shown on television. There is already much too much bad language and half naked people being portrayed all the time, and it gets worse with each passing day.