

To whom it may concern:

I am very concerned about my children watching TV with new "additions" the FCC may be putting in place. No child should be flipping through channels and come across profanity or nude women during hours you know children will be watching.

Please consider the millions of children and their parents who will gladly turn off the TV in order to protect their children. The world may have lowered their standards, but we're not that bad yet.

Thank you for your time.
