

If the FCC drops the decency standards I will be forced to remove our television and radio from our home. The amount of filth on television and radio at the present time is enough reason to justify doing this right away, but if the stations get a free for all run at profanity it will be the end of broadcast television and radio for most families. The current vulgar innuendos are the reason I refuse to pay for cable or satellite, the twisted shows that are broadcast for free are sick enough. I can't watch TV in the afternoons with my children unless it's PBS. The networks have shows that border on distasteful to full fledged revolting. There is a whole industry based on filth that people seeking that lifestyle can be accommodated without dragging down the population as a whole. The standards should be upheld. It's the only way to ensure that EVERYONE can watch television without being offended or desensitized.