

Television already does enough sleazy programming. Showing frontal nudity, "f" word, etc., does nothing to enlighten or improve the quality of a person. The media is doing enough to bring down the morality of the human for the sake of cheap, quick, mindless "entertainment" for people who have little overall constructive activity as a major part of their daily activity.