

I believe that we as a society are quickly losing any form of a moral compass. If people would like to see such programs, they can watch channels that allow such or movies. I believe that this is a huge mistake. Many of my friends and myself have said that if it comes to this, all TV will be removed from our homes. It is a struggle every day to raise children in a world filled with such dangers as crime, terrorism, etc. but to bring potentially damaging visual stimulation and sexualization into a home with young children is equally scary. The sexualization is leading to curiosity which could directly lead to increased teenage pregnancies, increased pedophiles, increase in sexual crimes, increased sex slavery because of the increased exposure at younger ages to such filth. As families try to raise young children, we do not need such filth forced into our homes. Such filth can be viewed on other channels or movies via choice.
