

There is already too much profanity and nudity on TV. I consider commercials by Victoria's Secret to be too seductive and show way too much "nudity" - like it's okay to run around in your underwear. Please do not 'loosen' the regulations. It would just be a further degradation of the great country - the United States of America. Please keep the controls the same or better yet strengthen the controls. Clean, wholesome TV shows = what a concept!
