

Allowing this would go against families trying to raise decent children. Especially when we are trying to teach them to respect, protect and take care of their bodies.