

The current level of nudity and vulgarity is so graphic as to need to be thrown out with the garbage. Basically the reason we still have a TV is to be able to watch movies and videos of our own choice and knowledge. With very limited exception, it is no longer safe for anyone, especially children, to watch television programming. To be less restrictive (or to allow greater and more graphic nudity and vulgarity, including but not limited to the f-word) would accelerate the demise of basic morals, resulting in the ultimate downfall of a great nation.
