

The FCC should continue to uphold the highest standards of decency and not permit objectionable material on the public airways. We realize there are some who think that pushing the envelope downward promotes some higher good but this is sadly mistaken. Those things that promote general morality and stability and sanctity of marriage and family promote happiness and prosperity.