

I support the current broadcast decency standards which ban explicit profanity and nudity. Changing this standard will not be in the public interest. What is shown on public television should be acceptable to be viewed by all members of public society, including children.