

I am writing in regards to doc. 18-36.

It is my opinion that changing the FCC rules to allow any nudity or profanity would be a grave mistake. As television has saturated our culture its audience has grown to include every age group. Thus it is unavoidable that even the most mature content will be viewed by the youngest viewers. I believe it is the duty of the FCC to protect such young and formative minds from such mature and improper content as nudity and profanity.

In light of the harm that such mature content can have on young viewers (and viewers of all ages) I would strongly urge you to not only refrain from relaxing current standards but to also take an aggressive role in enforcing current standards and ensuring that the television programming on air is wholesome and beneficial to viewers of all ages.
