

This is to state my strong opposition to any proposed changes in th FCC regulations regarding indecency on Television. The programs televised by the Fox Network are among the most egregious in the whole Television market. However, this is not the only source of raunchy programs. Other networks have their share. In light of the continuing degradation of our public (and private) culture, it behooves the FCC to face the fact that they have not even enforced the current laws regarding the types and the times of Television broadcasting!

Please face the facts and do your job!!
