

The current FCC indecency standards are too lax already. I oppose any changes that would further relax the current policy.