

If nudity and foul language are permitted on TV during daytime hours when children are watching it, the result will be confused children. Children know at school that they get in trouble for cursing or getting nude, but when they see these actions on TV, some will be very puzzled, while others will repeat what they see, even at school. Teachers have enough pressures, without the added misbehaviors that nudity and cursing on TV shows will bring about by children incapable of discernment.