

I realized very quickly after that last mailing about the fine line straight and narrow that I am walking. Glenn making claims about being wronged in life, Glenn is also aware that most people through out history and most people in the world today can make the claim of being 'wronged' by someone or something. So Glenn realizes he should â€˜harpâ€™™ on the issue of being wronged. Glenn shouldnâ€™™t complain, especially if God is responsible for â€˜wrongingâ€™™ Glenn. Yes God, I accept your chastisement towards me Glenn, your unprofitable servant, who did what his duty to do. The list goes on and on. Glenn must sow the seeds of non-bitterness in his life, so he reaps sweetness and good fruit rather than bitterness. Glenn can say honestly today that he is not bitter, which is good. Heaven is forward and future. Glenn must not harp on future mate. Many people are more deserving than Glenn, and Christ's bride and Christ's wife and marriage is everything. Glenn's fantasy marriage is nothing compared with the literal actual bride of Christ, and if Christ thinks Glenn is deserving of meager crumbs from his table and a lowly reward, then in that day, lowly Glenn might get a lowly, meager female helpmate, a meager, lowly Amish wife perhaps.

After Christ marries himself, and only if Christ sees fit. But it is well worth it, and reason for Glenn to walk the straight and narrow in this lowly humble life that Christ gave Glenn. But happy because of the fun of feeding the house sparrows!!

Glenn apologizes on how he handled the mess with his former high school sweetheart, Karen. God and the Secret Service know Glenn could have treated Karen much better in Maryland, and Glenn accepts that he messed up that relationship with his high school sweetheart Karen in Maryland.

In all fairness, Glenn has no right to the tree of life as mentioned in Revelation. Christ said blessed are they that do his commandments that they right to the tree of life. The tree of life is future. From there, once Glenn starts to obey Christ, then work backwards, and as Glenn enters the future, he slowly earns right to the tree of life.

Glenn former girlfriend in high school...Karen, Glenn has no 'right' to her. I have to get permission from Christ. Which is right because God is God, and secondly, Glenn trusts Christ's wisdom about a female relationship more than Glenn trusts his own wisdom.

Glenn has to get permission in that day when he faces Christ, whether his reward is an eternal help mate. Even then, Glenn and his mate must get permission to 'touch' each other. That's the approach Glenn is taking in life. That's the way it should be. And the harvest in that day will be worth it.

Christ said the reward is future. And it's obeying Christ and the commandments. The commandments greatest being 'loving God with all heart soul and mind, and also loving our neighbor as ourselves, our neighbor being every other person in the world. I apologize for being sarcastic. And Glenn has to accept that he will happy in Heaven without a female mate. I suppose having fun every day in Heaven feeding bread, cake, rice, and cookies to the house sparrows, seagulls, and pigeons is reward enough. And the fun of feeding bread and cookies to the sparrows might be better than having a wife or girlfriend!!!

Glenn has no enemies, even if does, Glenn is supposed obey Christ and love Christ and love these so called enemies. Glenn needs to watch his words out of his mouth and what he writes. If I write or talk somewhat bitter, I find I might start feeling bitter because of it.

Glenn's outlook on life. If the House Sparrows are chirpy and seem optimistic and happy, then God must be telling Glenn that life is supposed to be chirpy and optimistic and happy. If the House Sparrows are optimistic and happy, then Glenn is optimistic and happy.

In closing, even if the birds aren't happy and optimistic, I supposed Glenn should walk the straight and narrow and be optimistic and happy.
