

I am against relaxing the rules on programs on TV. As a parent, it is hard enough trying to find programs my children can watch and you wish to make it harder. We do not have cable, so we are limited to the programs they can watch. As it is now, more programs are becoming less family friendly especially during the times kids are most likely watching. I watch the program with my children, and programs we used to be able to watch together has steadily decreased. This idea to relax the rules just seems to be completely wrong and short- sighted. Thank you.

Sincerely,

Mandy Bates
