To the FCC,

I am writing to express my morbid concern for your pending changes to allow even more sexual content, graphic language and violence onto television during hours when minors could very well be watching television programming.

This country was founded on Christian values and although Congress is slowly being subverted by those with no morals to remove our traditional values and eliminate morals, I disagree with the idea that we, as parents, should allow our children to be exposed to that type of garbage. To lesson controls on nudity, foul language, graphic violence and bloodshed is abhorrent. I request that you rise above those who would subvert this countries morals and keep the current rules in place or even strengthen them.

Thank you,
Don Schwarz
