

Are you folks just losing your collective minds; your intention to ease the guidelines for additional adult programming on the major networks is absolutely insane. People often ask me why our country is where it is.....well I, being a Police Officer, tell them to watch 3 hours of TV Land some night and then watch 3 hours of primetime anything and you will find out exactly why our country is where it is. When morals and values are continuously devalued within the mainstream media it only makes sense that society follows. Please don't use your authority to allow the networks to sink this ship any further. We have lost our moral compass, personal responsibility is a memory, and your organization thinks that loosening the chains on an already out of control media made society is a good option. Be responsible, please.
