

There is already too much profanity, vulgarity, and sexual content on TV. There does not need to be more. The entertainment industry does not need this type of questionable content to make money. We just went to see the new Star Trek movie. The movie is the top money maker this week and does not use this type of questionable content. I could name others....and TV shows without the questionable content. I refuse to even watch some of the commercials for shows with this content. Thank goodness for the remote.

There are many people like me, an adult, who refuse to listen or watch "garbage." It is particularly important that children not be exposed to this type of content on TV.