This is for that Kelly Ripa Pilates advertisement, which can be construed as 50-50 tempt lust. Kelly Ripa has a baby, then neglects the baby to go do her Pilate exercises while her baby suffers....true but not true....

Those female Richard Simmons yoga are borderline porn. Pontius Pilate having sex with all these Pilate women.

Reminds me of photo I saw in California. A baby boy or girl was in a crib, stroller near the beach, sunny weather. the mother was away from her baby in the background in a group of mostly women doing their calestenics yoga stretches.

The woman-women have a baby, then neglect the baby to go do Pilate exercises.

Another example for the Lot Noah argument and why it might be good to start a new.

The UN secretariat general (a scapegoat, not the exact person I'm referring to), but let's say the UN Secretary General or the Shah of Persia (again, a scapegoat, not the actual one), but the UN Sec General wants all the eggs for himself.

He has very much succeeded in today's world 2013, all the eggs are his. All these women and their Pilate Yoga. And what is this high heel fashion that these women wear? Do they wear those shoes to make them look taller? Who would wear high heels on icy sidewalks? What real woman would wear high heels at all. The make-up is the biggest thing. Painting ones face like a clown makes one look uglier.

Pontius Pilate 2013 (scapegoat) want all the female eggs for himself, and he practically has succeeded. We give him that.

However, God in heaven, because he is God...if this is about female eggs, certainly God had reserved eggs for himself, not for God to actually conceive himself, but you sort of get the gist.

The 8th UN Sec General wants all the eggs for himself, and probably is 99.9% successful. Masters thesis in college...is there really anything unique, and are they basically the same. And if Glenn had finished his masters degree in college, the University would 'own' me intellectually, and claim my thesis belonged to them. That is why that college hates me so much. I didn't finish my thesis, hence my work and myself belongs to me. On the other hand, all those masters thesis by others are basically not original etc. They are bland, average, and generally not unique, however with high salaries, one would never suspect...

but the UN Sec General wants all the eggs for himself, would make a nice masters thesis in college or a dissertation.

My thesis and dissertation 2013: "The UN Secretariat General want all the female eggs for himself...."
I hope I get an "A"!!! :):)
