

?I have heard that the FCC is considering relaxing the standards for decency and profanity during Primetime to allow even more filthy language and even nudity on broadcast TV.

Not only am I strongly opposed to relaxing existing standards, I am frequently appalled at what is allowed now. Nothing can be gained by allowing more filth over the airwaves.

I am one of many that vehemently object to relaxing any current standard and would support strengthening existing standards to clean up the profanity, near nudity and sodomy-soaked programming out there now.?
