

Regular broadcast TV, available to all at any age, should stay appropriately censored of nudity and profanity. This is not teaching younger generations the quality of a life style that we should all be seeking; by showing nudity and verbal expressions with 4 lettered words scattered through the plot that are unnecessary and un needed for the plot. What low level of intelligence are we showing the world with this? We are supposed to be a country leading the world!

There is enough of this in movies that have ratings that can be chosen to be watched or not by adults and blocked from younger eyes and ears.
