

Decency standards with regards to language, nudity, and sexual content and violence should be more stringent than current standards. Profanities of all types and sexual language and violence of all types are destroying any concept of moral behavior in America. Please do not let Hollywood dictate our moral standards. America's political representatives need to grow a backbone and act on what is right for our civilization.