

I have watched television become more liberal over the years and I believe it is unnecessary to allow the f-word, the s-word, additional nudity and sexual content on public television. It would do more harm than good. Additional indecency is unnecessary and it will sadden me to see any further inappropriate content added to television. We see enough as it is. Morality is important, and should be included in television programs, and should not be excluded.

I oppose any changes to the current FCC indecency standards that would allow television and radio stations to broadcast expletives and nudity on the public airwaves, even if brief or ?fleeting.?

The Supreme Court has confirmed the FCC?s authority to enforce policies regarding expletives and nudity, especially during times when children are likely to be watching or listening. Relaxing the current policy would not serve the public interest and I urge the FCC to reject all proposals that would allow for the broadcast of expletives and nudity on FCC-licensed stations.
