

I am wholly opposed to relaxing indecency standards for broadcast television. As a culture, we are encouraging reprobate behavior by broadcasting profanity and making public and casual what was intended to be an intimate and committed union of two people called to be one. If we continue to lower the standards of moral decency, the incidents of sexual assault and abusive behavior will continue to increase.