

However the FCC decides to modify it's policy regarding it's complaints I would absolutely like to see the regulations on the books be enforced as strongly as possible. Particularly regarding nudity of all forms.

The fact is "Girls Gone Wild" infomercials, which is an ad for for pornography DVDs, are/were on the air, most nights in Dallas/ Fort Worth area. They should be illegal in my opinion.

Considering a government funded research study found that pornography has comparable effects on the brain to crack cocaine, porn & nudity should be limited as much as possible in the public domain.
