

Helen V Moore
105 Deerfield Trail
Chapel Hill, NC 27516
919-932-7033
hvm1@earthlink.net

Received & Inspected
MAY 20 2013
FCC Mail Room

May 14, 2013

Federal Communications Commission
Consumer & Governmental Affairs Bureau
Consumer Complaints
445 12th Street, SW
Washington, DC 20554

Re: Proceeding Number 13-86

Gentlemen:

I have learned that this proceeding concerns ignoring "fleeting" nudity and profanity on non-cable broadcast television channels.

Because a friend responded to you by email and said it so well, I will paraphrase the opinion he expressed to your Commission because I agree with it and he said it better than I could.

There was a time when the FCC was almost puritanical. On TV words like "pregnant" or "hell" or mention of sex in any form were not allowed. Today's TV has already gone too far with the subject matter, the sexual Double entendre (not only dumb and sophomoric) but truly insulting and very damaging to family night TV. This I describe is on "broadcast TV". On the "Cartoon Network" the script is utterly disgusting with the undeniable effort by the writers to form the minds of whoever is watching, be they adults or very often innocent children. I have heard lines like (and I do not exaggerate): "my mom doesn't want me to play with you because you like Jesus" or other "brainwashing" efforts by the writer to promote the more unwholesome side of our culture. For the viewing audience that would chose to be a market for more non-family TV, they can subscribe to the unsavory pay channels or use the Internet for all the available trash. The days of respect for decency were precious. I would prefer a return to those days rather than a further decline in to the disgusting degradation passing for entertainment found on TV today.

Please think carefully before taking further steps to degrade and weaken our values and our culture especially in beautiful, innocent children.

Sincerely,

Helen V. Moore