

I am for it. As we might have to be working with another agency that needs a sensitive data packet transmitted. Emergency personnel are not allowed to name people's names on the air, and relaying a list of injured or dead in the clear would be open to all.