

I am opposed to Amateur Radio encryption. Blanket use within our Spectrum would make it impossible to police non-legitimate usage. If it is encrypted, how can business or criminal use be detected?

My position is that if it must be concealed it should not be transmitted on Amateur Radio Services. The proper solution exists simply by using the MARS assignments. That was the original intent any way. Since the Navy ended participation in the MARS program recently, those channels should already be available.