

Don't change the current indecency standards.

We don't need to see or hear the sexual perversion, gutter language, and violence that have been creeping onto the airways over recent years. It is becoming a cancer on this country. One of the most insidious ways that these activities are being promoted is through evening cartoon programs that are warping the minds of adults, not to mention any children that may see them.

Start enforcing the current indecency standards.