

Please intercede in the Time Warner - CBS greed fest. According to Time Warner they have not decided whether to refund their paying customers for not having regular broadcast channels that would be clear and free if on an antenna. They also state that CBS is at fault (according to their reps) for not taking the lame deal they offered.

While Les Moonves and CBS are not angels, this comes from companies being allowed to be monopolies and the paying customer is being thrown under the bus.
