

Our school is a low-resourced, inner-city high school in Los Angeles that does not have the resources or finances to fund an infrastructure that helps our school do what is needed. One of the services that helps us is E-rate. Through this service we are able to better offer a quality education to those that are less fortunate. Without these services, providing a quality education becomes more challenging.