

For the past 4 weeks, Media General has blocked access to our local NBC affiliate television station on the DISH satellite system we have contracted with for about 20 years. Although there is an NBC affiliate in the Boston market, we have been informed that it is against FCC or other government rules for DISH to give us that station. I believe that Media General is not serving its obligation to the communities of Southeastern MA and RI and needs to be forced to negotiate in good faith with DISH and re-establish access for DISH customers. I would not support their continued control over our local television station as I do not believe they have met their obligations to our community.