

I believe the local news stations need to start showing more good things happening in the communities so that the community itself can see how they can help and make a difference. The media swarms all over negative news and we need them to swarm all over the good news too.