

7520961689.txt

I fully support removing the symbol rate limit from amateur radio rules.

This will open the door to more experimentation which is one of the reasons why amateur radio exists.

As proven elsewhere, this change will not have any detrimental effect to others and accelerate the creation of newer and more efficient data communications modes.