

7520962212.txt

Dear Sir, or Madam:

The regulations should be written to reflect that the data protocol be open and published.

That no modem protocol may be used in which a competent hobbyist could duplicate. The algorithms used must be published.

It should also state that variable bandwidth modems not be permitted to automatically change bandwidth, but must only change bandwidth by operator control.

Variable bandwidth modems should not be allowed on permitted automated frequencies.

Respectfully,

Steve Sampson, K50KC
Oklahoma City, OK