RE: Possible Cell Phone Use

Dear Sir/Madam:

I am extremely upset that you might possibly allow phone use on airplanes. It would be awful to allow cell phone use on aircraft cabins. This would create severe nuisance situations and possibly affect security on the airplane.

Please do not allow this.

Thank you.

Very truly yours,

CHARLES M. GROSSMAN

Mr. Tom Wheeler, Chairman

Dear Chairman Wheeler,

It was a surprise to hear that the FCC is considering allowing cell phone use on planes. They aren't even allowed in restaurants where diners sit a good distance away from each other.

Passengers can currently text and email while in the air. Why would they want or need to use cell phones that would disrupt the peace of their fellow fliers? The ones who aren't thoughtful are just the ones who will abuse this proposed rule.

Perhaps you fly first class where courtesy and quiet are taken for granted. If you don't then you must be aware that not only are we in physical contact but all of our other senses are mingled when we fly.

Most people use their flight time to sleep, work on business and/or relax. I can't imagine what it would be like if cell phones are allowed. Every teenager and rude adult will rule the once pleasant environment.

Please don't allow this to happen.

Thank you.
