

7521065348.txt

I support the Public Knowledge petition strongly. Techniques for recovering individuals' identities from even relatively small amounts of non-aggregated data are widely known: all non-aggregated data, and non-aggregated call records in particular, should be treated as individually identifiable.