

7521073159.txt

I strongly object to the proposal to allow voice calls on commercial airplanes. An airplane cabin is a confined space, and those passengers who want to read or work quietly cannot escape the distraction of a one-sided conversation.