

7521078918.txt

Open Net - all access equal .

The internet pipeline has become a core publishing pathway for information and reflection.

For us to be, to remain a democratically sponsored society as against, say, a Fascist National Corporate one, it is incumbent upon us that the corporate entities that control the pathway - the internet - be regulated so as to provide all and equal access.

As a result of their individual market monopoly or duopoly, there are few options for spurring growth and openness without either strong regulatory control for a wholly open, equal access net or aggressive promotion of free market options.

Thank you.