

7521090041.txt

I couldn't be more opposed to allowing cell phone talking on planes. Airports are already over run with loud cell phone talkers. The day these same phone conversations are allowed on board a plane, is the day I stop flying. Or I will choose airlines that do not allow such talking. Our privacy is invaded in so many ways with electronic devices, not the least of which is subjecting those of us who prefer our own quiet space to noisy phone conversations.